EDUCATION

WELCOME TO THE BBC WORLD OF LANGUAGES...

The BBC is the world's biggest educational broadcaster and foremost publisher of language learning resources. This year we are pleased to offer language teachers, tutors and learners a new developed service.

• MORE RANGE

Language learning materials in fifteen world languages ranging from simple survival guides to comprehensive courses. This year's highlights include Deutsch Plus, a major new multiple media German course comprising a twenty-part television drama, a linked radio series, and a comprehensive print and audio course (see page 4).

For younger students of German, the Hallo aus Berlin course enables teachers to capture the interest of all 11 to 13-year-old students with a new motivating and contemporary television series featuring young Berliners plus fun animations and songs (see page 18).

• MORE OPPORTUNITIES

More opportunities to view and record programmes with BBC language programmes now appearing across the schedules: television programmes for adults are shown on BBC1 Sunday mornings and in the regular languages strand of The Learning Zone on BBC2 Monday mornings 4.00–5.00am, throughout the year.

Television programmes for schools are shown during term time on BBC2 Daytime on Two weekdays, and NightSchool TV on The Learning Zone Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday mornings between 2.00am and 4.00am.

Radio programmes for adults are broadcast on Radio 4 Long Wave, Sunday evenings between 8.00pm and 10.00pm from October to February. At the time of going to print, transmissions for this year had not been finalised.

• CONSISTENT SLOTS

A regular languages strand, at a consistent time every week, offering programmes throughout the year for adults learners — BBC Languages in The Learning Zone (please see left).

• NEW TECHNOLOGY

Our first resource using the latest interactive technology, the Clémentine CD-ROM adds a whole new dimension to learning French for 14 to 16 year-olds. As they are led through an exciting adventure game based on the television series, they practise and consolidate their language skills (please see page 23).

• NEW AUDIO SERVICE

The new audio tapes site licence for educational establishments offers institutions the opportunity to make multiple copies of the audio components of selected adult language courses, for only twice the price of the cassette (please see order form).

YOUR COMMENTS

We welcome your comments or feedback on this brochure and any other aspect of BBC Education language learning programmes and resources. And it is easier than ever to get the information you want and to keep in touch – please see right.

We hope you have a great language learning year and good luck!

GERMAN

FOR ADULTS

Deutsch Plus is a dynamic new introduction for adult beginners to the German language and culture. It provides a complete multiple media package, enabling learners to develop essential language skills. The television series, recorded on location in Germany, and the course cover a wide range of language situations, with special emphasis on the workplace. Deutsch Plus is suitable for learning in the classroom or independently at home for leisure, work or study. It is also appropriate for students working towards GCSE or vocational accreditation in schools and colleges.

TELEVISION

Set in a Cologne television station called Deutschland Plus, this twenty-part drama uses its true-to-life storyline to take learners through all the key themes required by beginners in German.

Follow the main character Nico, as he copes with both work and a foreign language, and watch a number of extracts from Deutschland Plus' own programmes, including authentic documentary items from German television (subtitled in English), vox-pops, adverts, and extracts from regular shows such as 'Fitness Freddie'.

The programmes carry the four key themes of work, love, adventure and learning the German language, and woven into the fictitious storyline are some social realities of modern Germany.

There is also an additional 30-minute introductory programme Introducing Deutsch Plus for tutors and learners giving an overview of the series plus suggestions of how the programmes and published course materials can be used in the classroom or for self-study.

COURSE BOOK

Complementing the broadcasts, the course book, audio and activity book comprise a fully-integrated beginner's course with all the material needed for learners working alone or in a class. The course book features three main sections:

- 1 Willkommen and Hallo: a simple introduction to the basics of the language plus extracts of the television drama in pictures.
- 2 Erste Kontakte: units 1-16 continue the storyline and present a number of key language functions in a wide range of topic areas.

- 3 Treffpunkte: units 1-16 Plus revisit the topics covered in Erste Kontakte and expand and develop the topics and functions. Based on a wider range of authentic source materials or realia, with further development of the four skills, these units take the learner from simple comprehension to controlled production and on to more open-ended activities. The book also contains language notes, the text of conversations featured on the cassettes, exercises to practise speaking, understanding, listening and reading, learning tips, cultural background information on German-speaking countries, a full reference grammar section, glossary and answers to exercises.

AUDIO

The four C75 cassettes or CDs are packed with language explanations and carefully-graded activities for listening, understanding and speaking. Real-life conversations in German plus selected extracts from the television drama, show the spoken language in everyday use. The audio is recorded in Jena, Lübeck and Mainz.

TUTOR'S GUIDE AND TUTOR'S AUDIO

The tutor's guide offers clear practical help in teaching Deutsch Plus. It is full of ideas, teaching steps and extra materials for using in class such as photocopiable worksheets and cue cards. There is also a special set of tutor's audio cassettes which contain all the core student audio minus the English explanations and presentations, for ease of use in the classroom.

ACTIVITY BOOK

The activity book provides a wide variety of activities for extra practice in reading and writing, plus exercises to repeat vocabulary and a key with answers to all the activities.

TV STUDY GUIDE

A Deutsch Plus TV study guide is planned for December 1996. For use with the programmes either in the classroom or for self-study, it contains key phrases and listening activities based on the language of the programmes, plus an answer key and full transcripts. (Not available through booksellers.)

Television transcripts 00198X £3.00

This new series takes students to a more advanced level in speaking, reading, writing and understanding French.

The second-level course is designed for people who have a basic knowledge of French who would like a francophone supplement to a metropolitan French course.

TELEVISION

The French Experience 2 builds on the first series and offers a mix of teaching scenes and information about three very different parts of the French-speaking world: Senegal, Guadeloupe and Quebec.

The programmes are:

1 Langues et pays

An introduction to the people and landscapes of Senegal, Guadeloupe and Quebec and what the French language means to them.

2 Identités

The ethnic origins that create a sense of identity, a former slave island in Senegal and a priest's view of the racial mix in Guadeloupe.

3 Argent

Ways of earning money, learning how to bargain, making money out of waste, and a family fortune in sugar.

4 Environnements

Coping with hurricanes in Guadeloupe and snowstorms in Quebec, and dreams of exploiting an island paradise.

5 Gastronomies

Culinary traditions, recipes, the low-down on bananas and a weekend of insect eating.

6 Métiers

People talk about their work, including Quebec's top landscape photographer and an organiser of adventure holidays.

7 Génération et traditions

Children and parents discuss family life, and a collective of fisherwomen transform traditional roles in Senegal.

8 Transports et voyages

Sorting out travel problems, the founder of one of Quebec's biggest industries, inventor of the snowmobile, and how an isolated island keeps moving in winter.

9 Sociétés

The case for teaching Creole in Guadeloupe, the pros and cons of independence in Quebec and the problems of the Montagnais Indians, once nomadic but now assigned to a reserve.

10 Loisirs et fêtes

Celebrations, anniversaries, how National Day is celebrated in Senegal and winter carnivals in Quebec.

COURSE BOOK

The course book is divided into ten units, each containing dialogues, authentic texts, explanations of key language and a wide variety of activities, including extended reading and listening passages. Learners can expand their ability to speak, understand, read and write French in a wide range of useful everyday settings.

AUDIO

Many of the conversations on the cassettes are recorded on location in France, Switzerland, Belgium and the Ivory Coast and help the learner develop an 'ear' for the language.

TELEVISION TRANSCRIPTS

The booklet containing all the television transcripts includes glossaries of some of the more difficult words and phrases. (Not available through booksellers.)

COURSE BOOK

Twenty main teaching units plus regular revision and review sections teach the language in an interesting and meaningful way that can be easily adapted to individual needs. A reference section includes a language summary, answer key, transcript of the audio cassettes and a French/English glossary.

AUDIO

The four 75-minute student cassettes and CDs, to be used with the course book, contain a teaching section with explanations in English and a listening section to help attune the ear and develop a good French accent.

ACTIVITY BOOK

The activity book provides a wide variety of activities for extra practice in reading and writing, plus exercises to repeat vocabulary and a key with answers to all the activities.

TUTOR'S GUIDE AND TUTOR'S AUDIO

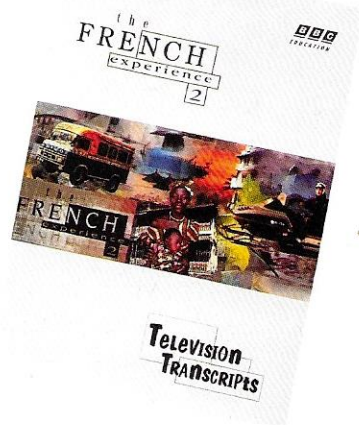

The A4 loose-leaf guide contains a summary of the main teaching points, learning objectives and key vocabulary for each unit, with suggestions for pair, group and whole class activities, worksheet masters and ideas for assessment.

The tutor's audio contains all the core French dialogues and listening and speaking activities from the student cassettes, minus the English introductions and role-play activities.

TELEVISION TRANSCRIPTS

Free factsheets with transcripts of the programmes are available on receipt of an A4 s.a.e. (36p stamp) from The French Experience Factsheets, PO Box 7, London W5 2GQ.

Another chance to hear the highlights from these popular magazine-style programmes that provide an illuminating introduction to the Spanish language and a window on the Spanish-speaking world. Presented by Robert Elms, who is also learning to speak Spanish, the programmes include a range of news and features, promoting a greater feel for the language and cultures of World Spanish.

COURSE BOOK

The course book is divided into twenty units and is suitable for complete beginners and false beginners. It presents the language in a clear and structured way with colour-coded explanations which are concise and easy to follow. Each unit contains a special Temas section devoted to the cultural richness and full breadth of the Spanish-speaking world. A review section, Vamos de Nuevo, provides clear grammar explanations, further practice and a checklist of learning. The book also offers a comprehensive glossary, and with the student's audio forms a fully-integrated learning package.

AUDIO

Recorded mainly in Spain and Latin America, the audio helps to develop listening and speaking skills. English presenters guide you through the material, explaining new language.

Radio 4 LW

This accompanying radio series features presenter Mark Curry who follows the Italianissimo course. A tutor is on hand to give motivation, advice and support as key language points are presented and explained. Plus items recorded on location on a range of related subjects help capture the real Italian picture.

COURSE BOOKS

Italianissimo 1

This course is a comprehensive introduction to the language for adult beginners. Covering areas such as introductions, basic socialising and making requests, the language presented is based on audio recorded on location for the book and for the television series and is designed to develop learner's understanding. Grammar explanations follow a unique twin track approach to meet different learner needs.

Italianissimo presenter Anna Mazzotti

Italianissimo 2

Following the approach of book 1, the second stage again uses authentic audio and written texts and continues to develop skills. It also contains more extended reading material and a cultura section on Italian poetry and paintings.

AUDIO

The cassettes are based on location recordings, offer explanations and speaking activities and help the learner develop listening skills.

ACTIVITY BOOK Italianissimo 1

The activity book provides a wide variety of activities for extra practice in reading and writing, plus exercises to apply vocabulary and an answer key to all the activities.

TUTOR'S BOOK Italianissimo 1

The tutor's book contains all the pages from the course book plus detailed suggestions for classroom activities.

Training videopacks are also available from BBC for Business. Please call 0181 576 2361 for details.

THE OPEN UNIVERSITY

Qualify in French or German with the Open University's Centre for Modern Languages

The Open University's Centre for Modern Languages offers undergraduate-level courses and study packs starting at approximately GCSE in French and, from 1997, German. Students successfully completing all three courses in each language will be awarded a University Diploma. Alternatively, the materials are available as self-study mixed-media packs and are suitable for use by teachers in adult, further and higher education, particularly institution-wide language programmes.

Diploma in French or German

With the Open University French and German Diploma programmes learners will develop their confidence in speaking and understanding the language, and gain an appreciation of contemporary French or German culture and social environment. There are no specific entry requirements – basic knowledge of the language from a rusty O-level, GCSE or an equivalent is sufficient, or learners may have achieved a similar level through evening classes.

Both diplomas consist of three nine-month courses (February to October) which are linked progressively. The courses can also be counted towards the University's BA/BSc degree or the OU Diploma in European Humanities.

Learners are provided with specially-written course books, study guides and audio-visual materials, backed up by personal tutorial and counselling support. During the second and third courses in both programmes, there is the opportunity to attend a residential school in France or Germany.

resource pack 375094 £57.50

A free programme guide will be available from BBC
Education Information, 201 Wood Lane, London W12 7TS.

Hallo aus Berlin is a new series of ten programmes for beginners in German aged between 11 and 13 years.

Young people from schools in the east and west parts of Berlin welcome us to their city and their homes. During the series, we get to know Marko, Miriam, Daniel, Esther, Thomas and Jessica, and learn about their lives and their interests.
Informal interviews in the streets of Berlin (vox-pops) include older people, providing practice and reinforcement of conventions of address (the du and Sie forms). The programmes are made entirely in German, and provide a rich cultural background to the language used.

Each programme features Rolli and Rita in an animated story, made with the state-of-the-art technique of motion capture. Each week there's a purpose-written song at the end of the programme to help with those elements of the core language that learners find tricky.

The language used has been carefully controlled in order to be accessible to young learners in their first years of studying German. The topics chosen are based on those most frequently explored at this stage (National Curriculum areas of experience A, B and C), and sometimes follow the particular interests or circumstances of the young Berliners.
The programmes are:

- | | |
|----------------------------|---------------------------|
| 1 Wir | 6 Schule |
| 2 Familie | 7 Freizeit |
| 3 Zu Hause | 8 Gesundheit |
| 4 In der Stadt | 9 Ferien und Feste |
| 5 Essen und Trinken | 10 Unser Berlin |

Co-production with the Goethe Institute.

SUPPORT MATERIALS

The resource pack contains the teacher's notes, full transcripts, 30 photocopymasters, and an audio cassette of the specially written songs, to develop ideas and themes from the television programmes and reinforce language learning.

In addition to the materials in the resource pack, the videopack includes the complete series of television programmes. Each programme features an animated story and informal interviews providing practice and reinforcement of the language.

14-16/INTERMEDIATE

Autumn 1996

10 x 15 minute programmes

11.15-11.30am from Tuesday 17 September 1996

BBC2

CD-ROM (Mac and PC formats) featuring substantial video footage, including specially recorded material, plus teacher's notes 298426 £88.12

'The series marks a new stage in broadcast material for teaching modern languages.'

Times Educational Supplement

Meet Clémentine, a forthright 16-year-old, who introduces us to her family and friends, her lively imagination and her views on real-world issues.

Clémentine is the central character in this purpose-written drama for teenagers, which provides students with a new and motivating approach to language learning by involving them in real-life situations.

Each episode takes viewers into Clémentine's world through her experiences with school, love, family and her dreams. We also discover her reactions to more serious issues, such as pollution and illness.

Attention is given to the vernacular which is most likely to interest teenagers, while incorporating a core of familiar language and structures. No English is used.

The programmes are:

- | | |
|-------------------------------------|---------------------------|
| 1 Croissant et chocolat | 6 Un rendez-vous |
| 2 C'est pas juste! | 7 Au secours! |
| 3 La tentation de Clémentine | 8 Au voleur! |
| 4 Une famille musicale | 9 Les vacances |
| 5 C'est l'amour | 10 S.O.S. la terre |

CD-ROM

The Clémentine CD-ROM develops the story, characters and locations of the television series, but can also be used independently. The CD-ROM leads users through an interactive adventure game which visits all five of the National Curriculum Areas of Experience, providing extensive motivational activities for language learners starting at the lower end of the ability range. It allows opportunities to practise skills such as:

- listening for gist and detail
- making notes
- seeking repetition
- skimming and scanning
- using context
- applying patterns.

'Offers plenty of cultural awareness, with well-chosen, entertaining and authentic materials which will be a valuable addition to any post-16 French course.'

Times Educational Supplement

From global warming, Eurotunnel, De Gaulle and Mitterrand, to advertisements and songs, the first five programmes in The French Collection draw on existing television programmes from a number of different sources. They feature extracts on particular themes, with clips from France, from French-Canadian television and from French-speaking parts of Africa. The student's workbook contains detailed suggestions for exploitation of the programmes, related written texts and full transcripts.

Programmes 6-8 are compilations of fascinating and unusual short films from some of France's top directors.

A free programme guide will be available from BBC Education Information, 201 Wood Lane, London W12 7TS.

A Spanish magazine on the TV offers a fresh look to Spanish for beginners in schools. The ten programmes in this series drop in on young people in their own environment to see what interests them and how they live their lives. In order to provide rich opportunities for contrasting experiences, the programmes visit Spanish-speakers in Colombia, Asturias and Madrid.

The team of young reporters bring a selection of competitions, reports, consumer items and music.

The language featured in the series reflects the needs of young learners of Spanish in terms of content and level, as well as the requirements of the curriculum. All areas of experience required at this level are covered. The unique combination of language and visual stimulus also contributes to pupils' motivation, cultural awareness and interest in the subject-matter. The programmes are broken down into short useful segments or 'pages', each centred on a key topic.

There is also an exciting new high-tech animation story featuring the adventures of Julio and Julia.

The programmes are:

- | | |
|-----------------------------|--------------------------|
| 1 ¡Hola! | 6 El cuerpo |
| 2 Familia y animales | 7 El tiempo libre |
| 3 Casa y rutina | 8 Fiesta |
| 4 El colegio | 9 Mi barrio |
| 5 La comida | 10 Moda y media |

The Revista resource pack contains teacher's notes, full transcripts and photocopymasters to develop ideas and themes from the programmes to reinforce language learning and the videopack includes the complete series.

10 x 5 minute programmes
1.20-1.25pm from Monday 16 September 1996
repeat 12noon-12.05pm from Wednesday 8 January 1997

BBC2

An animated mini-series for beginners, featuring a friendly extra-terrestrial. Globo acquires basic language skills when he crash-lands in Spain and meets young teenagers from the 31st century.

The programmes:

- use humour and fantasy to teach the language
- offer highly motivational material
- link the language closely with everyday activities, personal and social life, and the world around us.

LIBRERÍA: SPANISH STORIES

PRINT/AUDIO
11-14/BEGINNERS

Reader pack (15 titles) 399898 £39.99
Multiple reader pack (3 of each title) 399901 £90.00
Cassette pack (3 x 50 minutes) 39991X £46.45

A fascinating selection of stories for groups in the early years of learning Spanish, this series combines interesting and imaginative audio stories with full-colour readers.

The stories, all read by native speakers, are arranged into three broad bands of difficulty in order to provide support for differentiation and progression.

Written for learners at Key Stage 3, these stories feature a stimulating variety of those genres which most appeal. All of them have a distinctive feel of the Spanish world, ranging from South America to Iberia.

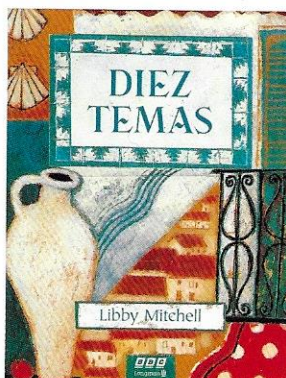

The reading books use illustration, colour and page layout to help the reader's confidence. Each book includes a glossary and activity page, encouraging creative work as a follow-up.

DIEZ TEMAS

Teacher's notes 345705 £6.75

Videopack - 1 x 150 minute video, teacher's notes and transcripts 348259 £51.00

'A well-structured, well-produced series ... students will find much of it useful in supplying a broad perspective of contemporary Spain.'

Times Educational Supplement

Diez Temas gives students a fascinating view of daily life in Spain as seen through the eyes of a group of teenagers from Salamanca, plus an opportunity to listen to authentic language. The language level is controlled through the use of graded questions which appear on screen in the vox-pop sequences. The video is supported by a comprehensive pupil's book and accompanying cassette.

RECORDING BROADCASTS

Following the 1988 Copyright Act, educational institutions may only lawfully make recordings if they are licensed by the Educational Recording Agency (ERA).

Only those establishments meeting the statutory definition of 'educational establishments' are able to take out an ERA licence. Those which are in any doubt about whether they fulfil the statutory definition can contact ERA to discuss whether a licence can be granted.

For further advice on this or any aspect of ERA, please contact ERA Ltd, Isis House, 74 New Oxford Street, London WC1A 1EF.

The ERA scheme does not cover the Open University.

Individuals may record any programmes for their own private use.

RECORDING OPEN UNIVERSITY BROADCASTS

In addition to its well-known degree programmes, the Open University offers a wide range of materials for language learning. Please see page 17.

Educational institutions and companies wanting to record Open University programmes off-air for education and training purposes must apply for an off-air recording licence. These are administered by: Open University Educational Enterprises Ltd, 12 Cofferidge Close, Stony Stratford, Milton Keynes, MK11 1BT.

Telephone 01908 262 612.

ORDERING RESOURCES

The order form in the centre of this brochure enables you to obtain current resources directly from us. Orders can only be accepted on this form – if you need more copies, please contact BBC Education Information.

Those resources marked * on the order form are also available through booksellers and BBC Shops.

Credit card orders can be placed, 24 hours a day, by telephoning 01912 220 381. A postage and packing charge of £2.00 is added to each credit card order.

PDC

The BBC now transmits Programme Delivery Control codes (PDC) on BBC1 and BBC2. PDC allows a suitably equipped video recorder to record a programme using teletext listings pages. The programme selected will be recorded in its entirety, even if the schedule is changed or the programme runs late.

BBC Education hopes that schools and colleges will take advantage of this new service, as it should make the recording of broadcasts much easier and more reliable. The BBC as a whole supports PDC.

More technical information is available from BBC Engineering Information on 0181 231 9191.

CEEFAQ

A daily listing of BBC Education television and radio programmes is available on pages 635–639 of CEEFAQ.

NEW AUDIO SITE LICENCE FOR EDUCATIONAL ESTABLISHMENTS

The BBC has launched a new site licence scheme covering all audio tapes linked to certain adult language courses. This gives centres the right to make an unlimited number of duplicate tapes for use by registered students and tutors within the centre. The courses covered are: Deutsch Plus, The French Experience 1 and 2, Sueños World Spanish 1 and 2, Italianissimo 1 and 2, French Means Business and Spanish Means Business.

The site licence cost is double the cassette price. To apply, simply order a new set of cassettes with site licence using the order form in this brochure. The BBC regrets it is unable to backdate this service or to extend it beyond the courses listed. (This licence is not related to the ERA licence which covers all broadcast programmes.)
